the
A U R O R A

I N I T I A T I V E

New Mexico, United States | theaurorainitiative.org

PROGRAM INTRODUCTION • DEVELOPMENT DRAFT

To Probation and Supervision Officers:

Aurora is developing a flexible program intended to support individuals balancing supervision requirements, treatment and reintegration.

The proposed model combines independent educational study with separately identified, approved community-benefit activities. Flexible delivery may assist individuals in residential treatment or with other barriers to in-person participation.

Proposed accountability and documentation

• Participant account and identity checks appropriate to the program.
• Structured reading, video instruction, quizzes and lesson examinations.
• Activity records, review of submitted work and separate approval of eligible service hours.
• Completion documentation and limited certificate verification, once the necessary systems are operational.

We propose that supervising officers confirm eligible activities, deadlines and reporting arrangements in advance.

The platform is presently in development. This letter is not a certificate, confirmation of enrolment, assurance of court acceptance or representation that verified service hours are currently available.

Respectfully,
Office of the Executive Director
The Aurora Initiative
info@theaurorainitiative.org